

LA MONTAÑA DEL ALMA

In 1983, Chinese playwright, critic, fiction writer, and painter Gao Xingjian was diagnosed with lung cancer and faced imminent death. But six weeks later, a second examination revealed there was no cancer he had won "a second reprieve from death." Faced with a repressive cultural environment and the threat of a spell in a...

Reader's Opinions

no one I know

A really impressive, richly written novel that blends together a travel narrative with formal complexity and lots of fascinating meditations on history, myth, selfhood, etc. Oddly, I think I'm only going to read 200 pages of it, but I still liked it a lot--it's just there's not a lot of narrative or character progression here and after...
