Peek Inside the Book

On the day of the dead, when the year too dies, Must the youngest open the oldest hills
Through the door of the birds, where the breeze breaks. There fire shall fly from the raven boy,
And the silver eyes that see the wind, And the light shall have the...

When the Dark comes rising six shall turn it back; Three from the circle, three from the track;
Wood, bronze, iron; Water, fire, stone; Five will return and one go alone. Iron for the birthday; bronze carried long;
Wood from the burning; stone out of song; Fire in the candle ring; water from the thaw; Six signs...

Reader's Opinions

I'm sure most of you friends who might end up reading this review have already read this series, but for anyone who hasn't, these books are the pre-Potter classics that may have really sparked J.K.'s joy of reading when she was a girl (in fact, I do remember reading one particular article in which Rowling mentions Susan Cooper as a...
